Guidance through the International Tax and Accountancy Jungle - for Digital Businesses

IT and Internet Businesses have to think international. But with the international possibilities there comes risk in tax and accounting. A new initiative of IECnet, an international network of accountants, auditors and tax advisers, makes business easier.

For companies working in digital business, like IT and internet, the home market is often not enough - they have to go international to be successful. Doing that, they face many challenges working in international markets - also in tax and accounting. In contrary to that, the solutions provided by the businesses' accountants, auditors and tax advisers are often limited to domestic needs. The member firms of IECnet, an international network of accountants, auditors and tax advisers, launched a joint initiative, the IECnet Team Digital Business, to offer tailor made international solutions for companies. So tax registrations, employing staff and setting up branches or subsidiaries abroad becomes easy without any bad surprises. In Spain, the initiative is represented by Morera Asesores, Barcelona.

About IECnet
